About the course

IOSH Safety for Executives and Directors Online is designed to provide CEOs and Directors with comprehensive insights into health and safety responsibilities. This course highlights the moral, legal, and financial benefits of proactive safety, health, and risk management, tailored specifically for senior leaders.

Learning outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, learners should have an understanding of:

- The moral, legal, and financial case for safety
- Planning for health and safety
- Implementing health and safety measures
- Monitoring and evaluating safety performance
- Continual improvement in health and safety practices

Benefits for Learners

- Understand your responsibilities for health and safety in the workplace
- Integrate health and safety objectives and strategies effectively
- Benchmark performance and identify good practices from similar businesses

Course syllabus

The course is structured around five key modules:

- The moral, legal, and financial case
- Plan – planning for health and safety
- Do – implementing health and safety
- Check – monitoring health and safety performance
- Act – improving health and safety performance

Assessment

It involves a personal commitment (action plan) relating to the learning on the course. Identify three actions that you commit to taking in your workplace appropriate to your level of responsibility. On successful completion of the action plan, you will receive an official IOSH digital certificate.

Benefits for Employers

- Confidence that key leaders possess a thorough understanding of safe management practices
- Enhanced productivity and profitability through better safety management
- Strengthened brand reputation by maintaining high safety standards
